

BARRY COUNTY

RECYCLING
AND HAZARDOUS
WASTE GUIDE

ABOUT THIS GUIDE

The Barry County Recycling Guide is designed to help manage solid waste through reduction, reuse, recycling, and proper disposal of hazardous waste products.

This guide is provided to you by the Barry County Solid Waste Oversight Committee (SWOC), striving to best utilize the resources available in Michigan's solid waste stream and prevent adverse health and environmental effects resulting from improper solid waste management.

Major SWOC projects include spring and fall Household Hazardous Waste Collections at the Barry County Fairgrounds and the Roadside deer pick up program. In addition, the SWOC provides small grants to agencies, clubs, organizations and schools to support recycling and hazardous waste programs.

For more information on the SWOC, contact the Barry-Eaton District Health Department at (269) 945-9516 ext. 3 then 5. Questions or suggestions for updates should be directed to the Barry Conservation District, 1611 S. Hanover, Suite 105, Hastings (269) 948-8037 ext 117.

REDUCE! REUSE! RECYCLE!

Reduce

The best thing to do is reduce how much waste is created in the first place.

- Buy only what you need, and use it all
- Purchase recycled or recyclable items
- Buy in bulk or refills when possible
- Avoid single-serve containers
- Look for items sold as concentrates
- Say no to wasteful disposable items
- Choose goods that will last longer
- Opt out of catalogs and mailers

The average person creates about 4.7 pounds of waste every single day.

In 2007 the United States recycled and composted 85 million tons of the 254 million tons of municipal solid waste created.

Reuse

Here are ways to reuse materials instead of throwing them away:

- Use reusable cloth shopping bags
- Carry a water bottle or mug with you to refill on-the-go
- Reuse paper printed on one side
- Wrap gifts in used wrapping paper, bags, cloth, or a colorful scarf
- Donate used goods to thrift stores like Goodwill (see pg 29)

Recycle

If you cannot reduce or reuse, recycling is the next-best option. Recycling turns old materials into new products instead of being thrown into a landfill. Use this guide to find out what products can be recycled and where you can drop off your recyclable items.

Recycling 1 ton of aluminum cans conserves the equivalent of 1,665 gallons of gasoline.

HOUSEHOLD HAZARDOUS WASTE

Household hazardous waste is any item that cannot be recycled but do not belong in the waste-stream because they pose a pollution threat. These items require special precautions when storing and disposing of them.

Common Household Hazardous Waste Items

Automotive:

Car batteries	Degreasers	Antifreeze
Brake fluid	Fuels	Motor oil
Carburetor cleaner	Oil Filters

Household:

Aerosols	Fluorescent lightbulbs	Nail polish/remover
Batteries	Medication	Oven cleaner
Drain cleaner	Mothballs	Mercury

Home improvement:

Concrete cleaner	Glue with solvents	Roofing tar
Driveway sealer	Latex/oil paint	Stain/varnish
Furniture stripper	Paint remover/thinner

Lawn and Garden:

Bug spray/ Insecticide/Bait	Weed killer Pool chemicals	Herbicide/weed killer
Charcoal lighter fluid	Rodenticide/bait

The average American home stores up to 100 pounds of household hazardous waste. Make your home safer by limiting the amount of household hazardous waste you store. If you do store hazardous waste products, always place the product in its original container, inside a leak-proof plastic bin to catch any spills or leaks that may occur. Never remove labels from products and keep them in their original containers. If you are no longer using a product, if its package is damaged, or if you cannot identify it, take it to the Household Hazardous Waste collection (page 6) for proper disposal.

ANTIFREEZE

Antifreeze can be absorbed through the skin in toxic amounts and can be harmful or fatal if swallowed, causing liver and kidney damage. It is especially dangerous to children, pets and wildlife because they are attracted by its sweet taste, therefore antifreeze should never be dumped on the ground or left in an open container.

We are fortunate to have safe disposal or recycling options in our area. Please utilize one of the following options when disposing of antifreeze:

Ethylene glycol is the main ingredient in most antifreeze.

The safer brands of antifreeze consist of propylene glycol, which can still cause poisoning and death, but requires a greater amount ingested to do so.

PROPANE

Propane is a flammable compressed gas. It is heavier than air and will tend to settle in low areas. Propane is odorized to warn of its presence should a leak occur. Leaking propane may cause a fire or explosion if ignited. All safety instructions should be read and followed when using, transporting and storing propane. Most 20 to 420 pound propane cylinders are certified for 12 years. After 12 years a cylinder must be recertified, if possible, or disposed of properly.

YARD WASTE

Rather than send your yard waste to the landfill, consider composting to recycle nutrients back into the yard, to save on fertilizer and landfill space. When you clean up the yard, take all of the lawn clippings, weeds, leaves, and trimmings, shred them and put them all in your compost pile. You can also add your kitchen waste (caution: do not add meats, fats/oils, fish, bones, or dairy), twigs, bark, mulch, dried grass clippings.

You can mulch your yard waste by leaving the bag off when you mow your lawn, to allow the grass clippings to naturally add nitrogen back into your lawn. In the fall, rake leaves into piles and run them over with the lawn mower and leave them spread out on the grass or add them to your compost pile for great source of nutrients. The main aim of mulching yard waste is to make the pieces smaller so they decompose faster.

You can also take yard waste to:

RADON TESTING

What is Radon?

Radon is a naturally occurring colorless and odorless gas derived from the radioactive decay of the element radium. As radium disintegrates in bedrock and soils, it emits radioactive gas (radon) which permeates through the ground to the surface where it diffuses into the atmosphere.

Outdoors it is diluted to levels that offer relatively no health risk. However, if there is a strong enough radium source nearby and it is allowed to enter the interior of a home through common entry points in the basement, crawlspace, or slab foundation; then it can accumulate to higher levels, posing an increased health risk to those exposed.

How is Radon a health risk?

Long term exposure to elevated radon levels increases a person's risks of developing radon induced lung cancer; it is our nation's second leading cause of lung cancer.

What can you do to determine if Radon exists in your home?

Since you cannot see, smell, or taste radon gas, the only way you can detect it is by testing. Two common in-home radon testing devices readily available through the Barry-Eaton District Health Department are Charcoal Canisters, for short-term screening measurements (4-7 days) and Alpha Track Detectors, for long-term follow-up measurements (90-365 days). Both of these easy to use devices are exposed to the air in a home for a specified period of time, then resealed and mailed to a testing laboratory for analysis. January is Radon Action Month (RAM), during which short-term test kits are free.
